“Shroud of Turin: Looking Through the Lens”

A presentation by Deacon Pete Schumacher on research and the connection of the Shroud to New Mexico History. He appeared in a Discovery Channel documentary on the Shroud.

There will be on display a full-size 14-foot by 3.5-foot photograph of the Shroud, various 3D images, and a study of Shroud history, including evidence of its age.

Deacon Pete encountered the Shroud in 1976 and assisted with the 1978 investigations. He founded the Shroud Exhibit and Museum in Alamogordo, NM, in 2009. The exhibit is known around the globe through his seminars, lectures, retreats and missions, and thousands of visitors to the Shroud Exhibit and Museum and its website, ShroudNM.com.

Shroud research continues at the museum. His findings from a study completed in 2014 were presented at an international conference on the Shroud of Turin, along with a study completed by Dr. Petrus Soons of Panama, Central America. The bulk of his study involved on-site resources of the Shroud Exhibit and Museum, a 501-c-3 NM Corporation in Alamogordo.
