About the speaker: The speaker is an IT Manager, IT Teacher, SEAM webmaster & Catholic Deacon. He has a Masters in Religious Education from the New Orleans Loyola University and has studied the Shroud since August 2009 and Scripture since he was in 1st grade. In early 2009 his good friend Pete Schumacher and his wife Susan founded the museum and asked him to create iSEAM, the online presence of this 501-c-3 museum. His study has challenged and changed the trajectory of his life.

About the museum: SEAM admission is free and features a full-sized picture of the Shroud of Turin, the only VP8 Image Analyzer on open, interactive display and a tactile model for the sight impaired, Shroud movies and many other features. Dcn Pete & Dcn Andy are available for on-site or distant location presentations and/or retreats on a variety of areas of study of the Shroud.

About the website: iSEAM provides a variety of information on the Shroud, from information on the VP8 Image Analyzer that first revealed the Shroud has 3D information based on brightness, an over 170 slide presentation on many aspects of the Shroud: history, photography, science, Scripture and others, original photographic work, analysis, links to many other first-rate Shroud websites and a picture tour of the museum for those who might want to take a peek before they come.
